Description

We reset a password for a user in Active Directory.

Then the synchronization occurs.

The user can log into the system using his new password but then he is asked to change his password.

We reset the passwords several times, ensuring the box "user must change password at next logon" is not checked.

Every time the connection is done, he received the following message : You are required to change your password. Your user account details are managed by an external source. Details cannot be managed here.

source type : ldap

Hi Thierry,

I believe this was fixed in later versions of RhodeCode.

To recover with this situation please as an super-admin ope this user, and go to advanced section, and click Force Password Reset toggle so this turns to "disable force password change" clicking this should clear the reset password flag.
